

Review of Staff and Governance Structure of PRA

July 2020

The Hong Kong Council of Social Service

Rationales

- ▶ While members' representation in PRA work is fully realized through the existing governance structure, members' participation in PRA is rather limited qualitatively. Striking a better balance is believed to benefit the Council, members and the entire sector in terms of PRA.
- ▶ Pursuing an approach to PRA which is impact-driven and action-oriented requires (a) multi-stakeholder and cross-discipline collaboration; and (b) a staff team with strong research and network capacity.
  - ▶ With members and welfare sector experts as the core, other experts or practitioners should be engaged to achieve a bigger impact of PRA on our society.
  - ▶ The small staff team, as we have, has posed some limitations on our research output and outcome. Inevitably, only limited subject knowledge, expertise, and research skills are endowed by our staff members. A new approach engaging members, experts and practitioners to work together with the staff members is believed to be able to enhance the research and advocacy capacity of the Council.
